NATIONAL SUMMARY DATA

Estimated minimum number of illnesses and deaths caused by antibiotic resistance*:

At least  2,049,442 illnesses,
 23,000 deaths

bacteria and fungus included in this report*

Estimated minimum number of illnesses and death due to Clostridium difficile (C. difficile), a unique bacterial infection that, although not significantly resistant to the drugs used to treat it, is directly related to antibiotic use and resistance:

At least  250,000 illnesses,
 14,000 deaths

WHERE DO INFECTIONS HAPPEN?

Antibiotic-resistant infections can happen anywhere. Data show that most happen in the general community; however, most deaths related to antibiotic resistance happen in healthcare settings, such as hospitals and nursing homes.

Herbal Antibiotics: Natural Alternatives

The essential guide to building your natural defences.

BACTERIAL INFECTIONS ARE ON THE RISE, and pharmaceutical antibiotics are increasingly powerless to stop them. Pathogenic bacteria are tenacious survivors, they outsmart modern medicine and become virulent “superbugs”, resilient to antibiotics and increasingly deadly.

"Our immune systems are becoming increasingly burdened and we desperately need the complexity and synergy of plant-based medicine to help restore the microbial balance in our bodies. This valuable resource book helps you to know what to use, how and when." Jeff Wulman, MD, Interactive Functional Family Physician, Assistant Clinical Professor of Family Medicine, University of Vermont.

Organic versus Non-Organic an evaluation of nutritional difference crops.

Newcastle University- led study has a larger evidence base.

A landmark paper in the British Journal of Nutrition concludes that organically grown crops - e.g. fruit, vegetables and cereals – contain significant higher concentrations of nutritionally desirable antioxidants and lower levels of undesirable cadmium (a toxic heavy metal) and pesticide residues.

“The crucially important thing about this research is that it shatters the myth that how we farm does not affect the quality of the food we eat.”

Helen Browning OBE, Chief Executive, Soil Association.

Moving Beyond Organic.

*Educating through nutrition research.
Promoting 'no-dig compost gardening'.*

Organic food is gaining in popularity but its focus is on what is left out – the chemicals – rather than what should be included naturally – essential nutrients. Growing food for nutrition goes beyond organic. It aims to cultivate a deeper understanding of nutrition and nature to help guarantee that the food we eat is positively healthy.

Moving beyond organic is being developed and promoted by the Good Gardeners Association, a national membership based charity (registration no. 255300).

A WELL WATERED GARDEN is a small demonstration of a life lived out in Christ (Isiah 58)

As we apply the Kingdom principles of taking action

ON TIME, TO HIGHEST STANDARDS, WITHOUT WASTE and WITH JOY...

... this leads to abundant harvest.

WELL WATERED GARDENS are an expression of FOUNDATIONS FOR FARMING

An apostolic initiative for preaching the gospel, planting and strengthening NEW Testament churches and extending the Kingdom of God with emphasis on sustainable agriculture as a model for life transformation of individuals, families and nations.

Anamed International: How it started.

Anamed (Action for Natural Medicine) was initiated in 1986 in D. R. Congo by African healers and nurses and the German pharmacist Hans-Martin Hirt. For most people there, modern health care was either inaccessible or unaffordable. At the same time they saw that a lot of good, traditional knowledge of healing plants that had developed over generations was in danger of being lost forever.

Sarah, in the anamed T-shirt, was seriously ill with AIDS. With loving care from her mother-in law, left, and treatment with artemisia tea and moringa leaf powder, she is healthy and strong again. She is, of course, still HIV positive. Today Sarah runs self-help groups of HIV positive people.
